REPORT PAGE LAYOUT

- 1) Dropdown menu showing all report pages
- 2) Interactive map allowing users to pinch and squeeze with fingers to navigate to surf reports, cams, buoy data, etc...
- 3) Forecast model provided by WaveForce Technology
- 4) Snapshot of current weather that you can click on - bringing more weather information into a pop-up window and all else goes dim.
- 5) Coastal Marine Forecast - brings NOAA information pop-up window and all else goes dim
- 6) "Wave System History" - brings Vector Chart into a pop-up window and all else goes dim
- 7) Live Cam to be auto play for 1 minute and then a play icon appears.
- 8) Ad spaces will all be the same size and will auto rotate throughout the entire site.
- 9) "Subscribe" button takes them to a separate page where they can custom subscribe to what they want to see
- 10) "Surf Reporter Area" - Displays local surf reporter image and name providing a link to their bio. The 2 images to the right will be clickable to enlarge and their written update will be displayed below. Underneath the write up report is the reporter's banner ad linking to their website. NOTE: We would like all of this information to auto disappear/collapse at midnight (daily). Hopefully this will motivate them to get their reports up first thing in the am.
- 11) "Recommended Equipment" section - this is not necessary on our initial build but it's something we would like quoted. We might team up with the local surf shop in that area and have them populate the products that send the viewers directly to a shopping cart
- 12) "About <Report Location>" - A collection of surf photos and videos will be displayed along with some static written descriptions of the surf break and what's nearby.

The screenshots illustrate the layout of the OBXSURFINFO.COM report page. The top part shows the main navigation bar with a dropdown menu (1), an interactive map (2), a weather forecast (4), a coastal marine forecast (5), a wave system history chart (6), and various ads (7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12). The bottom part shows a detailed report for Nags Head Surf Report, featuring a reporter bio (1), recommended equipment (11), and an 'About' section (12) with photos, videos, and descriptive text about the surf break and nearby areas.

A paragraph will go here to introduce the people that work with OBXsurfinfo.com

Brent Nultemeier
Owner / Partner

Growing up as a kid in Virginia Beach, Brent has always been surrounded by water. Sailing, surfing, fishing and skateboarding were his passions and foundation that drew him near the ocean. He attended Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond, VA and graduated with a Bachelor's in Communication Arts & Design. Having worked at several companies in Richmond as an Art Director, and living away from the ocean for about 10 years, he and his wife decided to move back to the Outer Banks. After sightseeing the Outer Banks, Brent and Jamie settled in Kill Devil Hills. Outer Banks was a perfect fit. In 2005, Brent moved to a more family and working beach community and now runs OBXsurfinfo.com with his wife Jamie and their 3 daughters. Brent has run a Graphic Design business (BN Design & Advertising) for over 12 years. Complementing his Design business during the day Brent is also an acoustic guitarist and plays gigs regularly on the Outer Banks and is also a board member of the Surfrider Foundation, Outer Banks Chapter.

Jamie LaVier
Owner / Partner

Jamie grew up on the East Coast, attending school in VB and eventually college in the mountains of VA. Surfing having struck early keeping most addresses oceanside. With considerable water time logged at home and in the Outer Banks the lure of West Coast adventure kicked in leading to a 10 year stint in California. After a year and a half of juggling life in Southern California with a new job in the Outer Banks, Jamie packed up the car and moved back to the coast. Now happily tap-rooted to the Outer Banks, days are spent with her family, the humbling study of finding the next swell and hopefully a surf or two.

Dr. Jeff Hanson
Swell Consultant

Dr. Jeff Hanson is a Research Oceanographer with the US Army Corps of Engineers Field Research Facility in Duck, NC and owner of Waveforce Technologies. He received his Bachelor's degree in Physics from the University of Virginia in 1991 and his Master's in Physics from Johns Hopkins University in 1997. After working for Johns Hopkins Applied Physics Lab for 18 years, Dr. Hanson moved with his family to the Outer Banks just after Hurricane Isabel in 2003. Since arriving here he has worked extensively with the Army Corps, National Weather Service and FEMA to develop improved wave observation and forecasting capabilities for the Outer Banks. He loves to play in the water, including boating, fishing, kayaking, diving, spear fishing and of course riding waves. Oh yeah, his friends and co-workers call him WaveMan...

Gary Smith
Corolla Surf Reporter

You might know Gary from Corolla Surf Shop, the original surf shop in Corolla.

Pat Lewis
Corolla Kiteboarding Reporter

A longtime Corolla Outer Banks community member, Pat has 25+ years experience surfing all over the world. Finding kiteboarding over 6 years ago, Pat has been spending his winters down in Union Island and Bonaire catching air and progressing his kite skills. In Corolla, Pat was one of the first to hop on a twinfin and carve the Currituck Sound. He and Matt Hewes, longtime friend and fellow kite, started Corolla Kiteboarding this year to introduce the sport to the northern beaches. Pat's passion and knowledge make him one of the best instructors around, making sure you're having fun while being safe along the way.

Darel Crumpler
Kitty Hawk Surf Reporter

Darel is a 42 year old father of 3, and resides in Kitty Hawk. He is a graduate of ECU and an avid watersport enthusiast. He and his wife own the Southern Shores & MP 10 Tropical Smoothie Cafes. They also manage commercial and residential properties in VA & NC. Most of Darel's afternoons involve spending time with his children and coaching their athletic teams.

Herman Hall
Kill Devil Hills Surf Reporter

Verman Hall is owner/partner and Surf Program Director at Kitty Hawk Kayak and Surf School. He grew up surfing in Virginia Beach and the Outer Banks as a kid. As a teenager he worked for the Virginia Beach Lifesaving Service as an oceanfront lifeguard, which gave him basic first aid and safety skills and cultivated a deep awareness, respect and understanding of the ocean.

He has since surfed Puerto Rico, Mexico, Panama, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Costa Rica, Spain, Morocco, Portugal, the Canary Islands, Australia, Indonesia, Barbados and Canada. As an outdoor educator Herman has taught people to surf on four continents, worked for the Costa Rica Rainforest Outward Bound School for a year, leading backpacking trips in the rainforest, volcano summit expeditions in Nicaragua, and 2- to 4-week long surf courses.

Christopher Nygard
Southern Beaches Kiteboarding Reporter

Raised by timber wolves in northern Minnesota's Boundary Waters Canoe Area, Christopher was rescued and reintroduced into civilization by Lutheran Missionaries from Minneapolis.

While watching one of the early Pipeline competitions on Wide World of Sports during a January sub-zero cold snap in Minnesota, Christopher realized at the tender age of eight, that his destiny was to become a waterman.

Recently relocating from Oahu, HI to Hatteras Island, Christopher brings a wealth of watersports experience and deep Aloha to Waves Village Watersports Resort...

Kevin Scalia
Avon Surf Reporter

For Kevin Scalia, Hatteras Island Boardsports is the result of a lifelong obsession with the Outer Banks of North Carolina and specifically the Avon Fishing Pier. Kevin grew up in Avon, NC and spent his summers at the pier. Kevin's mother was a school teacher so with summers off they had been raised coming to Avon their entire lives for family vacations and have been rolled in the Hatteras surf since they learned to swim. They didn't start boardsports until Kevin was 18 and he fell in love with the sport. Kevin & his wife, Drew, moved to Hatteras Island in 2002 and their way back. In 2002 their pipe dream of one day owning a surf shop was realized when they opened Hatteras Island Boardsports in Avon. In 2012 they celebrated HIB's 10th year in grand style with the opening of their newly built facility on a vacant lot across the street from the Avon Pier. Kevin & Drew are the owners of HIB and are the driving force behind the success of the business. They are now a recognized mainstay of Hatteras Island and Avon and was designed to share Kevin & Drew's love for the area with both locals and tourists so whether you are a seasoned local or a leisurely summer visitor, they'll have what you need to get the most out of Avon and Hatteras Island.

Bob Chestnut
Ocracoke Surf Reporter

Bob and his wife Jane are the owners of Ride The Wind Surf Shop on Ocracoke Island. They've raised two sons on Ocracoke and the surf shop life; both of them currently off in college. When he's not at the shop, Bob spends his time surfing and pulling for his alma mater, NC State.
